THEATER PROJECT REVIVED.

Notice to Tenants at Southwest Corner of Twelfth and Locust te Move Causes Realty Gossip.

According to a new lease made yesterday to the Joseph Girardi Hotel Company, the Grand Avenue Hotel, at the southwest corner of Grand avenue and Olive street, will at once undergo extensive repairs and alterations and become one of the handsomest bostelries in the city.

Louis P. Aloe, representing the owners, signed the lease for a period of five years and set at rest the reports that the present building would be torn down to make room for a larger house, and that the Gerardis would relinquish the management.

The building is entirely substantial, and the house has been successful under the Gerardi management. Renovated and enlarged, it is said, the Grand Avenue, with its several hundred rooms, will be modern. About twenty bathrooms will be added, and the interior appointments claborated in many details. Work is to begin immediately and will be finished September 1 TWELFTH STREET BUILDING.
The fact that tenants at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Locust streets have received notice to remove within thirty dark has revived the report that a twelve-story office building and theater are to be built office building and theater are to be built there in the near future.

Representatives of the Corner Realty Company, the lessees, state positively, however, that no definite plans have been formed. It is their intention, they state, to tear down the old buildings in order to make storage room for the material to be used for the new $2,000,000 Jefferson Hotel. This property, fronting 100 feet on Twelfth by 140 feet on Locust street, recently was ed for a period of 99 years by the Corner Realty Company, represented by the Mercantile Trust Company, from Isaac H.

lic any definite plans it was stated at the time that a big office building and theater project, promoted by Eastern capitalists, may be carried through. Realty dealers may be carried through. Realty dealers who are familiar with the enterprise and aggressiveness of the Mercantile Trust Company do not doubt that the corner immediately south of the Jefferson Hotel soon will be made worthy of what promises to be the handsomest neighborhood in St. Louis, and the point figured on now is what form the improvements will take.

The fact is recognized that office room in St. Louis is at a premium. Every office building is all and to about the courters in St. Louis is at a premium. Every office building is filled, and to obtain quarters in one of them is about as difficult as it is to obtain a dwelling or flat. The need for such buildings almost equals that which existed in the matter of local accommodations until Festus J. Wade and his associates projected the Hotel Jefferson and other patter made arrangements to build smaller hostelies.

INDEPENDENT THEATER. Several months ago representatives of Weber & Fields, James K. Hackett, David Belasco, Minnie Maddern Fiske, Henrictta Crossman and other interests outside the Theatrical Trust, were figuring upon an in-dependent theater in St. Louis. It is said that these interests are still open to a propo-that these interests are still open to a propothat these interests are still open to a proposition.

It is generally conceded that the location adjoining the new Jefferson Hotel could hardly be improved upon for a theater. To exploit attractions which are independent of the theater combine, it is said that Weber & Fleids and their associates are especially anxious to have a handsome playhouse in St. Louis before the World's Fair opens. They are now practically barred from the other first-class theaters here. Recently, it will be recalled, Weber & Fleids played in the old Exposition building.

er & Fields played in the old Exposition building.

The independent interests, Hackett, Belasco and the others mentioned, are now trying to establish a circuit of big cities, and without taking the World's Fair into consideration they are quoted as saying that St. Louis would prove a paying proposition. In view of these facts, it is believed that a permanent theater near the new Jefferson Hotel would draw well after the Exposition closes. St. Louis will be a larger city at that time, and Tweifth street will be in the heart of the downtown section.

OLIVE STREET LEASE.

OLIVE STREET LEASE.

Activity in the neighborhood of Olive street and Jefferson avenue was again a feature of the week in realty operations. The Mississippi Valley Trust Company leased the property fronting 198 feet on Olive, 83 feet east of Jefferson avenue, for 89 years at $4,000 a year for the first ten years and $5,000 a year thereafter.

This property is now improved with three old dwellings, and a condition of the lease is that new buildings are to be erected within five years. It is reported that the lessee, Louis J. W. Wall, will make improvements in a short time, since Jefferson and Olive is rapidly advancing as a center for brisk business.

Reports of agents show that suburban real OLIVE STREET LEASE. for brisk business.

THREE MORE INDICTMENTS.

Inspectors Complete Investigation of the Accounts of Postmaster Van Cott of New

New York, July 18.-United States Attorney Youngs of Brooklyn to-day officially announced that an indictment had been found by the Federal Grand Jury against George W. Beavers, formerly Chief of the Division of Salaries and Allowances of the Post-Office Department.

The charge is complicity in wrongfully was said to-day that Mr. Beavers was not a fugitive from justice. Mr. Seabury, Beavrooms, for four families, renting at $40 a hiding. He is not seeking to escape the operation of the law. Of course, I believe operation of the law. Of course, I believe in my client's innocence, but I beg to be excused from making any statement at present, which I think would be premature.

I may make a statement later." The issuance of a bench warrant for the arrest of Beavers is reported to be the first of a series to be brought about in connection with the Post-Office frauds. It is said the Grand Jury now in session in Washington has returned an indictment against another employe of the Post-Office Department for whom a warrant will not be issued until Monday. Two other indictments against men in the Post-Office Department are also said to have been returned by the Brooklyn Grand Jury.

NEW YORK INVESTIGATION. Washington, July 18.-The Comptroller of the Treasury has completed the examination of the accounts of Postmaster Van Cott of New York City, for the quarter ended December 31, 1902, which he took up as the result of the Post-Office investigation, and has allowed all the accounts except an item of $450 paid to H. C. Graff, for alleged services as cashier of the New York Post Office, at the rate of $1,800 a year, Graff was intimately associated with George H. Beavers, now under indictment by the Federal Grand Jury at Brooklyn. The Comptroller holds that Graff was not employed as cashler at New York, and was not on duty in that city, but was inspector in charge of inspecting and adjusting cancelling machines and motors at post offices throughout the country, The Comptroller says the law distinctly prohibits the detail of employes from any branch of the postal service outside of Washington to duty here, and the payment, therefore, is illegal.

Postmaster Van Cott contends he was ecting under the direction of a superior and had no centrol over Mr. Graff's appointment, which was made from Washington, but the Comptroller says these facts do not relieve the disbursing officer from responsibility.

MURDERER OF C. W. ROXBURY, IT IS BELIVED, IS A NEGRO.

Suspect Under Arrest Pawned Victim's Watch-Woman Gives Motive for the Crime.

New York July 18.-Since the arrest last night of Charles Jackson, a negro, for the murder of Charles W. Roxbury on the night of July 10, the police have worked up what appears to be a strong case against the negro.

The watch stolen from Roxbury was pawned by Jackson. He admits it, and the pawn ticket was found in the possession of the woman with whom he lived. The pig-skin card case in which Roxbury carried his money was found in Jackson's home, and a motive for the crime is revealed by the woman, known as Mrs. Jackson, who, however, admits that she Jackson, who, however, admits that she is not the wife of the suspect.

According to her statement, the rent was due, and the installment had not been paid on their furniture. Everything of value had been pawned. On July 10 the landford notified Jackson that he would be dispossessed unless the rent was paid in twenty-four hours. On the same day the furniture collector announced that unless back payments were made the furniture would be removed.

Jackson left his home that afternoon at Jackson left his home that afternoon at 5 o'clock. He told the woman that he would "try to find" some measy. She says that he got back at 10 o'clock at night. He had a gold watch and fie, which he said he had "found."
The next day, the gold watch was pawned his wife.

Jackson and the woman were examined separately and told conflicting stories as to how the card case and watch came into

However, conditions were extremely favorable in view of the open fetes. Bain fell in torrents on Thursday and this had the effect of cooling the air and freshing the parched trees and grass.

The annual fete of the Fourteenth of July was celebrated with greater brilliancy and originality than usual this year.

Quite a new departure was made by society people. All the salons were closed and the silence of death reigned in fashionable quarters.

Some smart people still in Paris organized plenies to the Bois de Boulogne and the suburbs. Others, younger and more Jaring, improvised dinners at fashionable restaurants and afterward sallied forth into the beautiful parks and illuminated streets, where many high-born dames and gentles men danced gayly to corners and denies.

"I wish to say to the world that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. Ellen E. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin Co., Mass. "Prior to September, 1897, I had doctored for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1896, I had very sick spells and grew worse; could eat but little. I commenced in September, 1897, to take Dr. Pierce's medicine, and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in two months."
